Number of follow-up appointments provided to children (u18) and adults (18+) from Kent and Medway referred to ADHD clinics over the last 3 years (2012/13, 2011/12 and 2010/11) with a Learning Disability

Table 1 below set out the number of adult (18+) referrals, assessments and treatments with ADHD over 3 years across Kent and Medway. These figures were originally collated by the former NHS Primary Care Trust which was abolished on 31 March 2013.
I can confirm NHS Dartford, Gravesham and Swanley CCG do not hold primary or secondary age children data for children and adolescent mental health or paediatrics. May we suggest you contact the following organisations who may hold this information:

Primary aged children via paediatrics:

Medway NHS Foundation Trust
foi@medway.nhs.uk

Secondary aged children:

Kent and Medway NHS and Social Care Partnership Trust (2010 – 2012)
foi@kmpt.nhs.uk

Sussex Partnership NHS Foundation Trust (from 2012)
foi@sussexpartnership.nhs.uk

There are no figures available for adults diagnosed with ADHD and Learning Disability over the three year period in question across Kent and Medway.

Table 2 shows the number of follow up appointments provided to adults (18+) who were referred to ADHD clinics from Kent and Medway over the last 3 years:
